PARTY WORKERS COMING FORWARD

Democrats Charge Laukea With Breaking His Promise

"The outlook is more promising than ever," said Chairman Judd of the Republican County Committee this morning. "I have had visits from a number of prominent political workers from the Fourth District, and from two workers from the outside districts of the Fifth, and they all promise to work hard for the party."

Chairman Atkinson of the Territorial Central Committee has much improved in health and may be able to come down town this afternoon or tomorrow.

"If I thought that any of the other candidates for Sheriff would follow my policy and would keep the police department out of politics I would withdraw from my candidacy for the office," said Sheriff Laukea this morning. "But I feel convinced that they will not do so, and that the office is merely being sought by those backing them for the purpose of using it for a political machine. I do not think that the majority of the independent and thinking voters want to see the police department brought back under the political spoils system, and for this reason I feel confident that I shall be elected."

The Sheriff's attention was called to the fact that the Democrats claimed that he had broken his promise, made repeatedly on the platform during the last campaign, to the effect that if he were elected he would not be a candidate for re-nomination for the office. "Well, I did not wish to run, but was asked to do so by a great many friends," he answered. "And they urged me so strongly that I felt that it was my duty to do so. Furthermore, a man can change his mind, can't he? Conditions may change a great deal in two years."

DENIES GETTING BECKLEY MONEY

W. C. Achi this afternoon stated that he did not receive any money from George C. Beckley, who was endorsed by the Home Rule-Laborite convention as a candidate for Treasurer.

"In this morning's Advertiser," said Achi, "I am charged with having received from Beckley, 'an even thousand, five hundred of which was for Labor and five hundred for Home Rule.'"

"I never received any money from Beckley, not even five cents. That is the way the Advertiser attacks me. I am ready to prove that I am in the right. What little money I am spending for politics is my own. I never asked anyone to help me along financially in politics. That is the trouble with a Republican paper, such as the Advertiser. Those behind it think that they can beat me politically by advertising such a story, but they are greatly mistaken. I will give them a hard rub at the coming election."

YOU are cordially invited to come and investigate our methods of handling estates and accounts.

NEW JAPANESE CONSUL ARRIVES

Immigration Affairs To Remain Unchanged, He Says

Hon. S. Uyeno, the new Japanese Consul General for Hawaii, arrived today from Tokyo in the America Maru. He is accompanied by Mr. K. Nakamura, an official of the Department of Foreign Affairs.

"I have nothing to give out for publication," said the Consul, when interviewed aboard the steamer. "Everything is quiet in Japan, and there is hardly any subject of importance up at present. There will be no change in immigration affairs. Those who come here will come according to the present regulation. When I am located I expect to go around the different places to get myself acquainted with the local situation. I am a stranger here and would like to get in harmony with every one."

"The Japanese government and the people are making grand preparations for the American Fleet. Since the postponement of the international exhibition, which was intended to be held in Tokyo, things have quieted down."

Mr. Uyeno, who is a linguist of rare ability, is a friend of Mr. Onodera, father of K. Onodera of the Japanese Daily Chronicle. Onodera Jr. went out in the customs launch to greet the new Consul.

CAPTAIN PARKER NOT SUSPENDED

Grand Jury Investigates
Graft Charge Against Detective

The statement that Senior Captain Parker of the police had been suspended, which appeared in the morning paper, created a great deal of excitement about the police station this morning, until it was learned that that veteran officer was not even in any danger of suspension, and that the whole report was a misrepresentation.

The facts of the case are that Robert Parker Jr., one of the sons of the captain, came to the station yesterday under the influence of liquor, and his sire, on learning of this, immediately played the part of the Roman Father, ordering that his offspring be placed in custody. He also asked the Sheriff that the usual rule of punishment for such an offense on the part of an officer, namely: of suspension for two weeks, be followed out in this case, and this was done.

A charge of graft on the part of Detective Ahi is at present being investigated by the Grand Jury. He is charged by a couple of men who were

CATHCART REFUTES CHARGES; FOLLOWED COURT'S DECISION

The absurd charges made by the morning paper to the effect that County Attorney Cathcart has violated his oath of office by handling civil cases involving a criminal charge against his clients, are almost universally regarded merely as showing how far the opponents of Cathcart have to go to find material against him as a candidate for re-election. Even those who do not believe in the practice of public prosecutors taking civil cases, and, as a matter of fact, this practice has been followed by such prosecutors in all departments for many years, say that at best the matter is not a fit subject for a political attack. As it is, Cathcart is able to show that he has, far from violating the practice in such matters, followed the decisions of the Circuit Court.

"In regard to the attack on me in this morning's paper," said County Attorney Cathcart. "I would say, in reference to the Ah Chee matter, that at no time while any criminal charge was pending against Ah Chee did I appear for him in a civil action."

"It is true that about six months before any charge was made, he retained me to defend him in a civil action of trespass. The case was tried and disposed of long before any criminal charge was made against him. He was prosecuted vigorously, as all our cases are, and his acquittal was through no fault of the County Attorney's office. He is a merchant at Wailua, and has been engaged in the mercantile business for many years there. The criminal charge against him was for selling liquor illicitly."

"As to Mr. Humphreys' statements before the Supreme Court, he, as usual, went outside of the record, and, as usual, the Court sat down upon him, intimating that his remarks were not proper. I presume Mr. Humphreys knew that it was not proper to go outside of the record to make a personal attack on me, but if he did not know it before, the Supreme Court has informed him sufficiently, so that he knows it now."

"In reference to the statements of Judge De Bolt I would say that, some time ago we had a conversation on the subject of my appearing in divorce cases. I brought the matter up myself, and while Judge De Bolt was inclined to believe that, perhaps, I had better not appear, he expressed no disapproval of my appearing, certainly not any decided disapproval, because if he had, whatever my own judgment might be I would have followed his ideas without any hesitancy."

"In Mr. Castle's statement, it appears that he and Mr. W. O. Smith differed as to the propriety of the Attorney General appearing in divorce cases, which shows that good men may differ on this subject. Any opinion of the Supreme Court given as Mr. Castle states has been unknown to most of the members of the Bar here, and certainly was unknown to me. It is not a published opinion; was not rendered in any case, was merely advice under the then existing law and is not of binding force on the Bench or Bar of this Territory."

"But I have judicial authority for appearing in divorce cases similar to the Will case. In the case of Mahuka v. Mahuka, Mr. Ashford, attorney for the libellee, made a written objection to my appearing for the libellant on the ground that as prosecuting officer I could not appear in a case where facts involving a criminal charge were set forth and were in dispute, and on his written objection moved that I be not allowed to appear."

"The motion and objection were argued and heard on May 16th of this year before Judge Alexander Lindsay, Jr., and the motion was denied and objection was overruled, and my right to appear sustained by the Court. I have accordingly not only official authority for my action, but I have the precedents established by an Attorney General of this Territory."

"The Advertiser assumes that I acted in violation of law, but such assumption is in the face of the judicial decision of Judge Lindsay. This decision is the law of this Circuit, at least until reversed by the Supreme Court, and myself and other attorneys have the right to rely on it."

"In the Will case, the adultery charge against my client was publicly withdrawn so that the only matter which could call for the cognizance of the criminal court would be adultery of the libellant, and my connection with the case can in no way interfere with any criminal prosecution."

"It is a custom which prevails throughout the United States for County Attorneys to take civil business, and it has been the custom here of the Attorney General to take civil business. Mr. Andrews, when Attorney General, and his deputies took divorce cases in the line of other civil work, but as to what custom prevailed in former days here I have not sufficient knowledge to be able to speak.

"If I had ever acted, whether in divorce cases or in any matter, as the Advertiser is trying to make the public believe, the judges who know me and my work best would not be as they now are my friends and well wishers."

GUARDIANS APPOINTED FOR PRINCE'S HEIRS

Mrs. Campbell-Parker, chosen by Princess Kawananakoa, was this morning appointed guardian ad litem of the minor child Liliuokalani, one of the heirs of the Kawananakoa Estate, and E. M. Watson was appointed guardian ad litem of Kalakaua, the other child of the late Prince David. A petition was filed some time ago to have John P. Colburn appointed guardian of Liliuokalani, but the Princess, by her attorneys, Thompson & Clemen, filed a cross-petition yesterday afternoon asking that Mrs. Campbell-Parker be appointed instead of Colburn, whose interest it was to have the alleged will of the late Prince sustained in order that he might retain the management of the estate.

NEW SCHOOL DESKS

Two hundred and ten desks arrived this morning for the new High School. At present the pupils have been using desks which were rented from J. Hopp & Co. by Superintendent of Public Instruction Babbitt. The new desks are auditorium arm-chairs, with folding tablet and folding seat, and there are enough of them now to fill six of the school rooms.

Coast Business Men Here On Way to Japan

Twenty-seven of the most prominent business men of the Pacific Coast, representing the cities of San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Wash., Eureka and San Diego, and en route to Japan for a trip during which trade relations of the two countries across the Pacific will doubtless be materially strengthened, arrived in port this morning on the T. K. K. Tenyo Maru. Nineteen ladies are also in the party.

These men, who are the members of an honorary commercial commission representing the Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific Coast, are, while in this city, the guests of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu. They will remain in Japan, as a commission, until early in November, when some of them will return to the Coast and others will go on for a while to China.

Met by Musicians
Though the Tenyo Maru was sighted bright and early this morning, Secretary Wood of the Chamber of Commerce and others, together with Ernest Kaala's orchestra, went out as guests of the Collector of Customs, to meet the visiting business men before the vessel should reach her dock. They boarded her outside. On the way into the harbor the orchestra
